SCHEDULE "B" TO BY-LAW 384 - 2006

SHORT STATEMENT OF THE REASON FOR THE DESIGNATION OF HILLTOP GORE CEMETERY, THE GORE ROAD

Heritage designation of Hilltop Gore Cemetery, under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act, is recommended for architectural, historical and contextual reasons.

The Hilltop Gore cemetery was established, possibly as early as 1832 on a narrow parcel of rolling hillside on the west side of The Gore Road, just south of Queen Street. Cemetery records confirm that the first recorded burial was for "Mary Natris, infant daughter of Isaac Natris, aged 4 wks., burial May 21st 1832". Of the first eight burials recorded in the cemetery register, 5 were infants.

The Cemetery holds several original, hand carved tombstones and markers displaying well-executed and beautiful motifs, symbols and inscriptions. The markers are of the slab and obelisk form and are made of principally of marble, limestone and granite. Several of the markers are free standings. Some markers were imbedded into a concrete cairn near the entrance to the cemetery. Despite the recorded 1832 opening date for Hilltop-Gore, this cemetery holds possibly the oldest stone grave marker in Brampton. It is the marker for John Allison who died March 9, 1829.

Several prominent Claireville and Toronto-Gore pioneer families are buried in this cemetery, including William Hewgill, Thomas Bland, William Sleightholm and Thomas Foster.

The cemetery has a rectangular shape and comprises approximately 0.5 acres.

The landscaping elements of the Cemetery are also significance, with mature shade trees, evergreens and dense vegetation along a steep slope that forms the Gore Road frontage. The Cemetery also retains its rural character with grass swales, without concrete curbs or gutters. A metal wire fence with wooden fence post and gate are also intact. The site is also distinctive because of rolling hills and its elevated position overlooking The Gore Road. All of these rural elements are character-defining elements worthy of on-going care and protection.

The property, and the burials it contains, holds significant spiritual importance as the 'final resting place' of several 19th century citizens of Brampton, including its earliest Euro-Canadian settlers.

The grave markers also provide a rare glimpse into hardships faced by early settlers. One marker records the deaths of four infant children of James and Janet Alexander, who died between 1842 and 1857. The oldest of the Alexander children was just 3. The others died as infants. Another marker records the deaths of three children of John and Rachel Kellam.

The many heritage attributes in the cemetery are a symbol of the people who helped shape the character and development of Brampton. The setting and landscaping elements form an interesting and important green space with several early plantings.

This well-preserved cemetery also represents one remaining vestige of the nearby former hamlet of Claireville. It is also an important link to the former Toronto-Gore Township.

The many heritage attributes in the cemetery are a deep and meaningful symbol of the early inhabitants who helped shape the character and development of Brampton.

The short statement of reason for the designation, including a description of the heritage attributes along with all other components of the full Heritage Report: Statement of Reason for Heritage Designation, constitute the "reason for heritage designation" required under the Ontario Heritage Act. The full Heritage Report is available for viewing in the City Clerk's office at City Hall, during regular business hours.

DESCRIPTION OF HERITAGE ATTRIBUTES (CHARACTER DEFINING ELEMENTS):

Unless otherwise indicated, the reason for designation apply generally to all exterior elevations, facades, foundation, markers, construction materials and their related building techniques, all burials, the grounds generally including all landscaping elements, hedgerows, groupings of trees, and shrubs, vistas, fences and all other natural and structural elements found on the subject property. Specific heritage attributes of significance include:

Exterior Architectural Heritage Attributes:

Several original, hand carved tombstones and markers displaying well-executed and beautiful motifs, symbols and inscriptions; markers made principally of marble, limestone and granite; several of the markers are free standings others markers imbedded into a concrete cairn near the entrance to the cemetery; possibly oldest stone grave marker in Brampton dating to 1829, for John Allison.

Contextual Heritage Attributes:

Mature shade trees, evergreens and dense vegetation along a steep slope that forms the Gore Road frontage; Cemetery retains its rural character with grass swales and no concrete curbs or gutters; metal wire fence with wooden fence post and gate are also intact; distinctive because of rolling hills and its elevated position overlooking The Gore Road.

Historical/Cultural Heritage Attributes:

Many very prominent early settlers are buried in this cemetery; it is a vivid symbol of the early inhabitants who helped shape the character and development of Brampton; the property has significant spiritual importance as the 'final resting place' of several 19th century citizens of Brampton.

We need to find ways to slow down development

across the way is a green carpet of young corn

In a few short years, all this and thousands more acres of Canada's finest food-growing land is going to be 'industrial and residential' and the people who come to occupy the area will have no clue as to what has been destroyed to accommodate them.

Even if all the local and even provincial politicians magically went green overnight, there is little likelihood the scourge of urbanization could be stopped in the near future, but, there is opportunity to at least mitigate some of the damage.

Any law whose intent was to stop development would be ingested into oblivion in no time, but 'reasonable' building bylaws, those which required something less than state-of-the-art technology before a development permit was issued, might stand at least a ghost of a chance against the combined assault of lawyers and lobbyists.

For a start, any conversion of land from agricultural to non-agricultural use must be at least energy and carbon neutral.

For instance, all the electricity needed by a new industrial development must come from local renewable generation. The footprint of even the largest wind turbine is not large and what little noise the spinning blades make would be small in relation to the general hubbub associated with manufacturing and transportation.

Support green development

The acres of flat heat-absorbing and heat-leaking roofs must be either 'green'—covered with a thick layer of water retaining growing medium which will support selected vegetation—to delay run-off and improve thermal efficiency, or they must support arrays of photovoltaics to supply electricity.

Heating and air conditioning must also tap local CO2 free supplies like ground source heating. If existing trees have to be cut down, then an equivalent acreage must be shown to have been planted and endowed for at least the lifetime of the development.

As for new residential building, the same principles of self sufficiency must be required and no permit should be issued for any design that does not incorporate the most up-to-date proven methods of thermal conservation.

In any new sub-division, all houses should be oriented so as to take maximum advantage of solar energy and some minimum percentage of every roof area should be designated for photovoltaic panels or supplementary hot water heating. If sufficient power cannot be reasonably generated on site, then a covenant on the property must ensure that imported power come only from renewable, carbon-free, sources.

Will it cost the new inhabitants more? Probably yes—at least initially until the capital costs are amortized.

Will it affect development? It certainly won't stop it, but it might slow things down for a few months until all the screaming is reduced to a dull roar and developers adjust to the new reality.

Is it 'reasonable'? Time alone will tell.

NOTICE

IN THE MATTER OF THE ONTARIO HERITAGE ACT, R.S.O. 1990, CHAPTER O 18, AND THE MATTER OF THE LANDS AND PREMISES KNOWN AS THE PARK ROYAL APARTMENT, LOCATED AT 8 WELLINGTON STREET WEST IN THE CITY OF BRAMPTON, IN THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO DESIGNATE

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the City of Brampton intends to designate property, being the Park Royal Apartment and lands upon which the building is situated, at 8 Wellington Street West in the City of Brampton, in the Province of Ontario, as a property of cultural heritage value or interest under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act, R.S.O. c. O 18.

SHORT STATEMENT OF THE REASON FOR THE DESIGNATION

The Park Royal Apartment at 8 Wellington Street West is a noteworthy and unique landmark property in downtown Brampton. It was built in 1939 as the first "purpose built" apartment complex in the City of Brampton.

The Park Royal Apartment is historically associated with several prominent individuals. The apartment was built for Dr. Robert James Hiscox. Hiscox was the owner and publisher of the Peel Gazette, an influential weekly newspaper in Peel County. Hiscox also practiced dentistry in Brampton and was a Liberal candidate in the 1948 provincial election.

The architect was Robert W. Hall, a respected architect in Peel County prior to the Second World War. Hall also designed several local schools including the original Peel County High School and the Peel Memorial Hospital.

The building is an excellent example of the construction work of Harry Herraerden, Sr. one of Brampton's most important 20th century building contractors. Herraerden also built several commercial buildings and houses including the home of the Hon. William G. Davis on Main Street South.

The Park Royal Apartment building is an extremely rare example of the streamlined Art Moderne style, a major architectural design variant stemming from the Art Deco period. The Park Royal is essentially a "one of a kind" in Brampton in terms of the Art Deco/Moderne style being applied to an apartment building. The owner and architect made a concerted effort to ensure their building was "in vogue" and thoroughly "modern".

The building design features several evocative Art Moderne elements including a rectangular plan with distinctive rounded buff brick walls on all four sides, a flat uninterrupted roof without any cornice details, smooth curving surfaces and horizontal fenestration. The Park Royal is among the most important early modern buildings in Peel Region.

As a cultural heritage landscape the entire property is significant. It is situated on a conspicuous corner lot at Wellington Street West and George Street. The low-rise apartment building, surrounded by generous lawns and open space, compliments and blends into its immediate surroundings, which include late Victorian and Edwardian homes and Gage Park, located directly to the south. The property actually presents a critically important transitional buffer between Gage Park and the contemporary, less sympathetic commercial and office buildings now running along George Street. It is also one of many important landmark buildings in the immediate vicinity including the Peel County Courthouse, Alderlea and the historic houses along Main Street South. The Park Royal Apartment building at 8 Wellington Street West holds cultural heritage value.

Heritage designation, under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act, is recommended for architectural, historical and contextual reasons.

DESCRIPTION OF HERITAGE ATTRIBUTES

Unless otherwise indicated, the reason for designation apply generally to all exterior elevations, facades, foundation, roof and roof trim, all doors, windows, other structural openings and associated trim, all architectural detailing, construction materials of wood, stone, brick, plaster paring, metal and glazing and related building techniques, fencing, all trees, shrubs, hedgerows, other vegetation and the grounds and vistas generally.

The short statement of reason for the designation, including a description of the heritage attributes along with all other components of the detailed Heritage Report Statement of Reason for Heritage Designation, constitute the "reason for heritage designation" required under the Ontario Heritage Act.
