PROCLAMATION

Business Continuity and Resilience Week

WHEREAS: Business Continuity and Resilience Week is an international event that will take place during the week of May 19th-23rd, 2025.

The Brampton Emergency Management Office (BEMO) Business Continuity Program evaluates risks faced by the corporation and helps develop plans and strategies to ensure the continuation of municipal services despite planned or unexpected disruptions.

This year BEMO will be sending out daily tweets as reminders of actions that can be taken to improve resiliency for City services and our Brampton business community. Reminders will be sent to department leaders to review and update their continuity plans.

The City of Brampton will post information on the internal and public sites sharing strategies on how staff and businesses can build more resiliency.

This is an opportunity to raise awareness around business resilience and to encourage organizations to develop, review and revise their continuity plans while documenting strategies that will ensure the continuation of vital services.

For those looking to create continuity plans and develop further resiliency within their organization more information can be found on Brampton's Emergency Management website.

THEREFORE: I, Mayor Patrick Brown, on behalf of Brampton City Council, do hereby proclaim May 19-23, 2025 as "Business Continuity and Resilience Week" in the City of Brampton.

Mayor Patrick Brown, City of Brampton
